HISTORY OF THE GOVERNOR'S CUP ◀

For 60 years, Thanksgiving Day was a special day in the history of the Georgia-Georgia Tech rivalry. It was on that day that the Georgia and Georgia Tech freshman football teams, and in later years the junior varsity teams, met at Tech's Grant Field for the Governor's Cup. The game, played from 1933 to '93, annually benefited the Scottish Rite Children's Hospital and became a nationally-recognized event. For about 20 years, the proceeds from the game helped meet the operating expenses of the hospital that has since grown into one of the largest pediatric healthcare institutions in the country.

During the early years, freshmen were ineligible to play on the varsity and each school played an annual freshman or junior varsity schedule. As such, many who would become the greatest players for both schools were showcased in this annual game.

Among the many who played in the annual classic were legendary Georgia players like Fran Tarkenton, Bill Stanfill, Frank Sinkwich, and Charley Trippi and Tech greats like Ray Beck, Buck Martin, Pepper Rodgers, and Kim King.

The charity game had its origin in 1930 when teams representing the northern and southern divisions of the old Southern Conference played an all-star game. In 1933, Georgia coach H.J. Stegeman and Tech coach William Alexander convinced a group of Atlanta businessmen to serve on a committee for the purpose of selling tickets to a freshman game between the two schools. The proceeds were designated to Scottish Rite. The Governor's Cup was presented each year to the winning team.

The game became a southern tradition and prospered for decades. However, scholarship and roster limitations caused discontinuation of the game in 1993; but in 1994, a "Legends Game" was held to maintain the tradition of the game.

The NCAA, at the schools' request, agreed to recognize the varsity rivalry and beginning in 1995, the Children's Healthcare of Atlanta annually presents the Governor's Cup to the winning team. Additionally for the seniors playing in their last regular season game, they receive watches, and the seniors on the winning team get a personalized replica of the Governor's Cup. The Governor of Georgia has been on hand to present the Cup to the winning team at the end of game too.

In 2019, Georgia posted a 52-7 victory over Tech, marking the 10th straight win over the Yellow Jackets in Atlanta. The 52 points and the 45-point margin of victory was the largest in the series that dates to 1893. In 2020, the Tech game was not held due to the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic as the Southeastern Conference played a 10-game league-only slate. The rivalry resumes Saturday, Nov. 27 in Atlanta.

GEORGIA

- vs. -

GEORGIA TECH

- Top-ranked Georgia leads the series with Tech 68-39-5 including winning the past 10 meetings in Atlanta. The Bulldogs posted their largest margin of victory in the last meeting, a 52-7 rout in Atlanta in 2019. The teams did not face each other in 2020 due to the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic when the SEC played only a 10-game league schedule.
- Since 1995, the winner of the Georgia-Ga. Tech game has been awarded the Governor's Cup Trophy. Since then, the Bulldogs are 19-6 in that stretch.
- Georgia leads the nation in Scoring Defense, giving up just 7.5 points per game. The Bulldogs are averaging 40.3 points per game, which is ranked seventh nationally. Tech averages 26.2 points per game and allows 32.5 points per game.
